KAISER HAS TALK WITH HEIR.

German Newspapers Aroused by Rumored Reconciliation With Prince.

Berlin.—According to the Berlin Salon, after the review of the crown prince's regiment by the emperor at Danzig, there was an intimate discussion between father and son of the prince's recently published book on his hunting experiences. This discussion arose from the fact that "the prince published the heartiest words concerning the deeply felt unity and sympathy between himself and his wife." What this mystic utterance may mean Berlin society is eagerly discussing.

Certain extremely exclusive German nobles are trying hard to prevent any reconciliation between the emperor and the crown prince, which is believed to be taking place after a long period of estrangement.

The conservative Post wages a fierce war with the anti-crown prince newspapers of south Germany and supports the prince, who is supposed to be the leader of the extreme Prussian reactionaries. The Bavarian Country Gazette retorts with another bitter attack upon the prince, in which it says he has utterly lost all popular affection and all touch with real German sentiment. Politicians regard this fierce conflict between the crown prince's and emperor's parties as a grave danger.

Loss of Appetite is commonly gradual; one dish after another is set aside. It is one of the first indications that the system is running down and there is nothing else so good for it as Hood's Sarsaparilla—the best of all tonics.

Having acquired the property of the lines it needed for the work, the South Pacific announces that it is prepared to accept a common user franchise for certain trackage in Portland, Oregon, and proceed with the electrification of 340 miles of interurban road involving the immediate expenditure of $8,000,000, with the work now being done on the new lines between Eugene and Coos Bay and Naton and Klamath Falls, this $8,000,000 makes the aggregate authorized expenditure in the state of Oregon for the next two years more than $20,000,000.

OLD FASHIONED REMEDIES.

Science in surgery and electricity has advanced much in the past thirty years, but the treatment of disease by the old fashioned remedies made from roots and herbs, has never been improved upon.

This may be seen by the great success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, and known today as the great remedy for female ills.

No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine.

OWNERS DELAY WEST EXTENSION UMATILLA PROJECT

Washington, D. C., July 15.—From the frequent and urgent inquiries made by those interested in the development of the West Umatilla Extension project, it is evident that they have little understanding of the real difficulties in the way of carrying it out. Here is a sample dispatch which was received here a few days ago:

"Hermiston, Ore., Senator George E. Chamberlain, and the Oregon Delegation, Washington, D. C. We are sending night letter to secretary of the interior urging immediate action on West Extension Umatilla project. Nothing has been done yet on the work and delay may be dangerous. We urge you to see him. Read our letter and try to start active construction at once. Hermiston Commercial club."

It would be inferred by a stranger that Senator Chamberlain had been remiss in his duties, and that he had not paid any attention to the work of getting the West Umatilla project started. As a matter of fact, he has been very active and perhaps no other single task has engaged so much of his attention or time as this one.

But in order to understand how the officials who have immediate charge of the reclamation work look on the troubles besetting the initiation of a project, read a letter from F. H. Newell, director of the reclamation service to Senator Chamberlain. It was dated June 19, and is as follows:

"Sir: Your letter of June 17 has been received. . . . as to when active work on the west extension of the Umatilla project will begin.

"This extension has been approved and the engineering plans developed to a point where construction can begin as soon as the legal questions are settled. We have found that in our operations the engineering work can be far more expeditiously performed than the legal, and that it is necessary to clear up the legal complications in advance of construction, especially those which relate to the protection of the water supply and of the investment itself.

"The difficulty we are experiencing in getting the land owners under the eastern part of the project to dispose of their lands in accordance with the terms of previous agreements has forced us to proceed with greater caution in securing similar agreements for the west extension.

"While we are all eager, as is Mr. Teal, to see the dirt flying, yet we cannot ignore the lesson taught by experience on this project and again start construction until we have better assurance than in the past that when the construction is finished, the land owners will do their part in putting their lands into the hands of the men who will actually utilize the water and raise crops.

"As I understand the matter, during 1911 water was available on the portion of the project now constructed for over 17,000 acres, of which only 3515 acres were irrigated, and 3275 acres actually produced crops. A large part of the land is still withheld from use by owners who have not complied with the intent of the agreement made with them, and who have put up the prices on the land so high that apparently no one can afford to purchase at these prices. The result has been speculation rather than development of the country.

"I join with you in the hope for an early beginning of work on the west extension of Umatilla project, and trust that you will do everything within your power to induce the people interested to take prompt action in, first, securing final determination of titles to water, and second, execution of the obligations binding upon the owners of the lands to be benefited such as will result in the utilization of these lands when the works are built.

"AMERICAN PRINCE" IS LIKED.

Age of Denmark Wears That Nickname Among His Subjects.

Copenhagen, Denmark.—"An American Prince!" Under that name the handsomest royal person in Europe, Prince Aage of Denmark, the eldest son of Prince Waldemar and the late Prince Marie of Orleans, is generally known here. He attained June 10 his legal majority, which in Denmark is reached at the age of 25.

The responsibility for the nickname belongs to his mother, who repeatedly said: "I wish this boy to be as much like an American as possible." The young prince has fulfilled his mother's desire, as he is one of the keenest admirers of everything connected with the United States, although he has yet to visit that country. It is therefore not surprising that he is a regular guest at the American legation at private as well as official functions.

Prince Aage, a fine fellow, with charming unostentatious manners, is an officer in the Life Guards, an ardent sportsman and takes daily lessons in boxing. He is one of the best skaters in Denmark, but, being a royal person, cannot compete in public. He is now in Stockholm to see the

OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Faded and Gray Hair—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

For generations Sage and Sulphur have been used for hair and scalp troubles. Almost everyone knows the value of such a combination for keeping the hair a good even color, for curing dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, and for promoting the growth of the hair. Years ago the only way to get a Hair Tonic of this kind was to make it in the home, which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays, almost any up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully prepared in perfectly equipped laboratories.

An ideal preparation of this sort is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for scalp troubles and thin, weak hair that is losing its color or coming out. After using this remedy for a few days, you will notice the color gradually coming back, your scalp will feel better, the dandruff will soon be gone, and in less than a month's time there will be a wonderful difference in your hair.

Don't neglect your hair if it is full of dandruff, losing its color or coming out. Get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and see what a few days' treatment will do for you. I was also annoyed by a burning sensation when voiding the kidney secretions and the passages were too frequent. Being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I did so, and the contents of one box cured me. I have had no cause for complaint since.'"
